Printastic is fantastic

Printastic is the new buzz name in the printing industry. Using digital technology and providing a one stop shop for all print and promotional products and services, Printastic has just opened its doors in Castle Mall, Castle Hill.

With over 10 years' experience in the print industry, Printastic Director, Tarek Jawad, said, "there is a growing demand for quick turnaround, shorter run digital printing service. We are able to offer our services to clients with convenience and efficiency at a very reasonable price, and using the latest in print technology. We are very pleased and excited about that.

Printastic is supported by the resources of R.M. Gregory Printers, a multi business award winner offset printing company which has been established since 1954. "This is a great opportunity for us to leverage off our existing knowledge in the print industry. We can provide a service in the digital space which complements the offset printing business at R.M. Gregory Printers. At the end of the day we have a formula for success that we know has been working for us and it consists of 'time, quality, convenience, and price' (TQCP), added Mr Jawad. "We pride ourselves with our level of professionalism and client friendly service".

Printastic also offers promotional solutions for businesses and consumers, ranging from display banner solutions to apparel and branded merchandise.

To celebrate the opening of Printastic we have made a range of special offers available. Just pay us a visit and see for yourself or visit our website on www.printastic.com.au", said Mr Jawad. "We are situated on the Old Northern Road end of Castle Mall".
